Supplying both current and historical statistics for non-life (P&C), life & benefits, personal accident and healthcare markets

Axco's Global Statistics database presents detailed statistical information on the insurance markets and insurance companies of over 180 territories worldwide. Axco's robust methodology of cross-checking, interpreting and analysing each country's data before it is structured into a global standard to easily compare data across markets. Data is kept up-to-date by our dedicated statistics team, who source the latest official figures from insurance authorities around the globe.

With full line of business breakdown, company premiums, and over 20 years of historical data for many territories, Axco Global Statistics provides subscribers with a single, reliable source of intelligence, unavailable through ad hoc, online research.

Strategic planning and business development

Axco Global Statistics helps subscribers to assess the profitability of markets and identify commercial opportunities through the delivery of historical written premium, data split by class and sub-class, historical loss ratios and combined ratios, and general economic data.
